Constantinople, May 12.

WE have had no News of the Turkish Fleet since the ten Men of War failed from hence; nor do we hear that Janom Choggia who is to command it, is yet arrived at Scio: However, People continue to be of Opinion, that the Design is upon the Island of Gozo. The Latin Bishop of Scio, who is brought hither Prisoner with six Monks from that Island, has been told, that if he and his Monks will have their Liberty they must pay sixty Purse for it, 50 to the Grand Visier, and 10 to the Captain Pasha, each Purse valued at 100 l. Sterling. To this the Bishop answered, that they had no Money, nor Power to raise any; but that, if the Grand Signior would have such a Sum, it could be levied only by his Authority, by taxing each Latin or Roman Catholick of the Island according to his Ability, and forcing them to the Payment. It is said the Port has agreed to this Expedient, and the Business is adjusted upon that Foot.

Pavia, May 20. On the 15th Instant the first Vespers for the Eve of St. John Nepomucena was performed in the Chapel of the Royal Castle, as was also the Consecration of that Saint's Statue made by a famous Artist according to the Form and Dimensions of that lately erected upon the Bridge at Prague. The 16th being the Festival of that Saint, Divine Service for the Day was celebrated in the same Chapel, under a Discharge of 20 Cannon; but it proving a rainy Day, the Procession was put off; and the Weather setting in fair the 18th, the Statue was born in pompous Ecclesiastical and Military Procession to the Stone Bridge in this City, and there erected: The Order of the Procession was as follows, viz. 1st, A Company of Curiaffiers of Locatelli's Regiment, followed by a Company of Grenadiers; a Battalion of Zumjungen's Regiment of Foot, their Colours flying; three Companies of Fryars, with the Standards of their several Orders; the Carmelite Fryars, as Chaplains to the Royal Castle; the Parish Priest attended by two Chaplains wearing Copes; the Statue of St. John Nepomuceno, carried upon a sumptuous Bier, on each Side eight Officers of the Cæsarean Household holding lighted Flambeaux in their Hands, among them 12 Sons of Officers bearing each a Palm-Branch, and round the Bier marched 30 armed Grenadiers; next followed, the Senior Officers belonging to the Regiments of Zumjungen and Leimbruck; at the Head of these, marched General Sormani, Governour of this City, accompanied by the Duke di Cerbellona with his two Sons, and many Gentlemen of Milan who came hither purposely to see this Ceremony. After these, marched a Battalion of Infantry; then a Company of Leimbruck's Grenadiers; and a Company of Locatelli's Curiaffiers closed the March. As soon as the Procession set out from the Castle it was saluted by a Salvo of the Infantry drawn up before the Gates, and was answered by a Discharge of 300 Mortars and 20 Pieces of Cannon. From thence it proceeded through the Streets in good Order, the Windows and Balconies of the Houses all the way being adorned with rich Tapestry and Pictures; Trumpets, Kettle-Drums, and Instruments of Musick sounding at every Place, and the Bells ringing throughout the City; the Statue being arrived at the Bridge, a second Military Salvo was made, like the first; and then the Image was set up in a Nich built purposely for it; and at the Conclusion of a Prayer made by one of the Fathers of the Society of Jesus, the Panegyrick in Honour of the Saint was pronounced, as had been before done in the Festival Service of this Saint's Day. The Panegyrick being ended, a third Military Salvo was made of Musket-shot, 300 Mortars, and Cannon: Afterwards, a small, though fine Firework, concluded this Grand Festival; and during the whole Night the Saint's Name was seen burning artificially in divers Parts of the City, upon Towers, and upon Bridges; the Letters were represented in Blazes of different Colours. What most remarkably fell out the next Day, after the Statue was set up upon the Bridge, was; a large Boat aded with Corn coming down the River Ticino, which had been exceedingly swelled by the continued Rain of two Days before, the Tide, though rapid enough otherwise, was more so at that Time, and the Vessel being got into the Middle of the Stream was driven away by it notwithstanding all the Labour of the Men, and was going to strike directly against one of the Stone Pillars of the Bridge: When, the Boatmen, not being able to stem the Current, and seeing before their Eyes certain Danger of perishing, most devoutly invoked the Saint, and not knowing how to call him by his own Name, they several times repeated these Words: O Saint of the Bridge! Mercy! Help! Help! And, Lo! when the Bark was just on the point of being dash'd to Pieces against the Stone Pillar, it instantly turn'd about, and passed directly under the Bridge without the least Harm.

The Fleet bound to the Rio Janeiro, consisting of 20 Sail of Merchant Ships, convey'd by two Men of War, was ready to sail the 23d Instant, but received a Counter-Order, by Reason that a Ship belonging to a foreign Nation having taken in too great a Cargo, two Portuguese Ships which wanted Lading must have been left behind; behind; and therefore the Council of Finances gave Order to have the Foreign Ship unladed, and the Goods to be sent on Board the two Portuguese; which Order is now executing. Some Days ago five Algerine Corsairs were seen Cruising off of the Entrance to this River.
